2010 ENVIRONMENTAL FORUM

MAY 18

“IMPROVING LIVES, PROTECTING RESOURCES: THE CHALLENGE OF ENVIRONMENTAL JUSTICE”

KRISTEN SAACKE BLUNK

DIRECTOR, AGRICULTURE & ENVIRONMENT CENTER

Kristen Saacke Blunk is the Director of the Penn State Agriculture & Environment Center, an initiative of the Environment and Natural Resources Institute. Saacke Blunk has 26 years of experience in environmental policy development and research, most recently as the Executive Director of Clearwater Conservancy. Her experiences stretch beyond the borders of Pennsylvania to West Africa, Haiti and Central America, where she has found ways to address environmental problems while simultaneously solving social inequities. She will discuss private water systems in Pennsylvania, local land use decisions, and the reforestation project in Haiti, among other topics.

8 AM - 12 PM

ALUMNI HALL, HUB-ROBESON CENTER
UNIVERSITY PARK

With the help of Outreach, the forum will be broadcast via Polycom to three Commonwealth Campus locations: Penn State Harrisburg, Penn State Dickinson School of Law at Carlisle, and Penn State Greater Allegheny.
